DO MORE WITH LESS

Design doesn’t have to be loud to make a big impact. The “less is more” philosophy sharpens the focus on what really matters in your design.

A backyard with a view needs only two chairs by the fire to complete a rustic design that coincides with nature.

Using a pop of color around your front walkway, like a bright colored door, is a little change that adds big curb appeal.

Keeping landscaping simple not only reduces the amount of time a homeowner spends on yardwork but also places focus on their investment.

In the ever-expanding age of technology, many rising trends center on the health benefits of incorporating design elements that help keep us connected with the natural world. This can be done both texturally and by integrating organic elements like water, fire, wood or plant life into the hardscape design.
Intertwining the natural and built environments can soften a contemporary look and create a sense of wellbeing.

TEXTURE

SCALE

Depending on the design goals, the shape and size of a paver can help make an outdoor space look more cozy, more open and contemporary, or more in harmony with the surrounding environment.
GREAT is in the DETAILS

Use a monotone color scheme with perpendicular borders.

Follow the landscape and allow for nature to guide you.

Pick a smooth texture for a modern aesthetic and use color to create contrast.

Different colors, shapes and sizes make for eye-catching design.

Decide where you want the natural world to break through.

Add visual and tactile interest by mixing textures and colors.

The primary goal in designing an outdoor living room is to create a space that invites you to spend time outdoors. Whether you enjoy entertaining large groups or prefer an intimate space for curling up with a good book, you bring life outside.
An inviting outdoor retreat provides a mix of beautiful flora, shady nooks and areas to relax or entertain. Take it a step further with hardscaped pathways or a water feature.
